Introduction

Philately is the study of stamps and postal history and other related items. It also refers to the collection, appreciation and research activities on stamps and other philatelic products. Philately is a delightful hobby. Philately satisfies one's aesthetic tastes and educates by expanding knowledge about interesting details of politics, history, prominent personalities, Indian and International events, geography, flora and fauna, agriculture, science, monuments, scientists, modes of transport etc. which delights collectors. This scheme's main objective is to enrich students with knowledge via the medium of stamps and interesting philatelic products.

Promoting Philately as a hobby amongst Children

The hobby of collecting Stamps includes seeking, locating, acquiring, organizing, cataloguing, displaying, storing, and maintaining them. Stamp collections can differ in a wide variety of respects, both in the nature and scope of the stamps collected but also in purpose, presentation, and so forth. The hobby can lead to social connections between people with similar interests and the development of new friendships. Collecting is also associated with memory by association and the need for the human brain to catalogue and organize information and give meaning to ones actions.

The potential customers can be divided broadly into categories like philatelists, collectors, students, common public, institutions and dealers. It is important to catch imagination of the young children at an early age so that Philately as a hobby can be cultivated. The median average age, when a Philatelist starts collecting, is (10-12) and it is imperative that efforts towards promotion of Philately should target this age group prominently. At this age the knowledge gathered through the hobby and various spin offs of pursuing Philately can help in Child's overall development and career advancements. Stamps collection, when picked up as a childhood hobby can become a lifelong pursuit. Collectors who begin early in life often modify their aims when they get older.

It is important to attract more and more children to take up Philately as a hobby at a young age and therefore there is a need to mainstream philately through education and incentivise it. In this direction, Department has already taken steps forward by inviting students to visit National Philatelic Museum, post offices etc. to acquaint with the stamps, philatelic items etc. During these visits, various activities are organised like quiz, workshops, letter writing, stamp design competition etc.
