Report	On 23 July 2026, the Department of History organised 'For Nature, With Nature', a campus greening initiative aimed at fostering environmental awareness and nurturing a sense of ecological responsibility among students. Students from the Multidisciplinary Course, SYB.Com. and SYB.Sc. enthusiastically participated in the activity, joining hands in a collective effort to promote a greener, cleaner and more sustainable campus. The initiative was conceived with the understanding that environmental responsibility begins with small but meaningful actions. It sought to encourage students to look beyond the classroom and recognise their individual and collective role in protecting the natural environment. Through their participation, students were reminded that caring for nature is not merely an occasional activity but a responsibility that can be incorporated into everyday life. As part of the initiative, students actively participated in greening the college campus by planting saplings and contributing towards the care and improvement of the surrounding environment. The activity provided them with an opportunity to engage directly with nature and appreciate the importance of trees and green spaces in maintaining ecological balance. It also highlighted the need to conserve natural resources and protect the environment for future generations. The programme encouraged teamwork and collective responsibility, as students worked together towards a common environmental goal.
